"I loved the Iran tour, which was my first trip with AIA Tours. It will certainly not be my last as I am already signed up for [two more]...I have taken many archaeological tours...I looked for [a] company with an archaeological focus and good lecturers, not just a local guide. I am now so happy to have found AIA Tours."

– Gretchen, New Jersey

Archaeology-focused tours for the curious to the connoisseur.

Relief at Persepolis

Embark on an exciting adventure across the spectacular landscapes of Iran, from the great and often green Zagros mountain chain in the west to the arid expanses of the east. Travel in Iran and meeting with Iranians is a wonderful and often heartwarming and uplifting experience. One is constantly being approached by people wanting to tell you how much they like Americans and how happy they are that you are visiting their country.

Our in-depth itinerary includes not only twelve UNESCO World Heritage Sites, but also beautiful gardens and restaurants, plus many other extraordinary sites and natural wonders that most visitors to Iran do not see. Throughout the tour you will be with an archaeologist whose work focuses on the art and archaeology of the Persian Empire and its complex interactions with ancient Greece, Mesopotamia, and Egypt, but who is also knowledgeable about contemporary art and daily life in Iran. This is a well-paced and comprehensive itinerary featuring the best available accommodations, with all meals included on touring days.

Affiliated with the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C., Alex curated a number of successful exhibitions and research projects on Iran, Iraq, Greece, Egypt, Yemen, and the ancient Near East. Born and raised in Berlin, Germany, he gained first experience of archaeological fieldwork in Germany and Greece, and worked in the Pergamon-Museum in Berlin.

In 2007, Alex began a series of projects examining and understanding the role of pigments and paints and modern preservation on monuments from Iran's UNESCO World Heritage Sites of Persepolis and Susa. A recipient of many international awards, including research grants and fellowships, he collaborates with colleagues at the National Museum in Tehran, at Persepolis, and at other sites; and authored articles for the Oxford Handbook of Ancient Iran (2014) and other prestigious publications. Alex has pioneered color-archaeology, integrating anthropological and archaeological fieldwork. A member of numerous international professional organizations, including the Musée du Louvre's Achaemenid Persia Research Project "Achemenet," he has been a board member of the local Archaeological Institute of America society in Washington, D.C. since 2009. Alex has been a frequent lecturer on the cultures and sites of Iran at universities and museums in Iran, Europe, and the U.S.; and led this AIA Tour of Iran to excellent reviews in 2016.

This morning we call at the seldom-visited Sa'd Abad Museum Complex, a former royal estate whose opulent Green Palace houses some of the most beautiful carpets from Iran's various provinces. After lunch at a local restaurant, continue on to the Reza Abbasi Museum, whose collections focus on art, culture, and technology in Iran from the 2nd millennium B.C. to the early 20th century. Return to the hotel, and then gather to dine at a local restaurant. (B,L,D)

Monday, May 22: Soltaniye | Takht-e Soleiman | Takab

Depart Tehran and drive northwest to Takab (total driving time 7 to 8 hours), stopping along the way to visit Soltaniye, known for its mausoleum of the Mongol Sultan Oljeitu Khodabande. Admire this UNESCO World Heritage Site's magnificent 14th-century tomb tower, whose decorations and patterns carved into plastered walls have inspired geometric and floral patterns on Persian textiles. After lunch, take a spectacular drive through outliers of the Zagros Mountains to Takht-e Soleiman (Solomon's Throne), another UNESCO World Heritage Site and once a great Sasanian religious center, where we find the well-preserved remains of a large, fortified settlement built around a small lake on a hilltop. Arrive in Takab, and check-in to the best-available, but very simple, hotel. Overnight at the Ranji Hotel. (B,L,D)

Tuesday, May 23: Bisotun | Taq-e Bostan | Kermanshah

Depart Takab early this morning and drive to Kermanshah. Make a stop at Bisotun, a UNESCO World Heritage Site whose principle significance is a 6th-century bas-relief ordered by Darius I ("The Great"), below and around which are over a thousand lines of inscriptions, written in three languages (Elamite, Babylonian, and Old Persian). Upon arrival in Kermanshah we have lunch and then visit Taq-e Bostan, where a series of bas-reliefs and grottoes (the latter unique in Sasanian art) were carved into the cliff face. Check-in to our hotel, get settled, and gather for dinner. Overnight at the 5-star Parsian Hotel Kermanshah. (B,L,D)

Wednesday, May 24: Khoramabad | Falak-ol-Aflak Fortress | Pol-e Dokhtar | Susa | Dezful

Set out for a day of driving to Dezful (six to seven hours total), with stops along the way at several archaeological sites. Our first stop is at Khoramabad, where there are several Paleolithic cave-dwelling sites and views of the Zagros Mountains, which stretch 932 miles and form an imposing backdrop to many of Iran's towns and cities. Visit

Naqsh-e Rostam, featuring the carved tombs of four Achaemenid rulers

Falak-ol-Aflak Fortress, which was built during the Sasanid period, once served as a prison, and today houses one of Iran's most prestigious anthropology museums. After lunch at a local restaurant we continue driving to Pol-e Dokhtar ("Bridge of the Daughter"), whose eight arches span the River Kashkan. The bridge was part of the Sasanian royal road, which linked the Persian capitals of Istakhr and Bishapur with towns in central and northern Mesopotamia. Continue on to Susa, a UNESCO World Heritage Site comprising archaeological mounds and Ardeshir's Palace, whose layers of urban settlements date from the late 5th millennium B.C. to the 13th century A.D. Arrive at Dezful, where we check-in to the best-available, but very simple, hotel and have dinner at a local restaurant. Overnight at the Tourist Inn. (B,L,D)

Thursday, May 25: Chogha Zanbil | Chogha Mish | Shushtar | Fly to Shiraz

Begin the day at the UNESCO World Heritage Site of Chogha Zanbil, a 13th-century B.C. Elamite complex with one of the few extant ziggurats (pyramidal, stepped, tower temples) outside of Mesopotamia. (Please note that due to erosion concerns Chogha Zanbil has recently been fenced, and it is not possible to get close to the site.) Continue on to Chogha Mish, which was a regional center during Mesopotamia's late Uruk period and is important today as a source of information about the development of writing. The site provided evidence of an accounting system that evolved from clay tokens, to clay tablets with marks, to a cuneiform writing system. Drive to Shushtar for lunch at a local restaurant, and then visit the UNESCO-listed Shushtar Historical Hydraulic System, an irrigation system that was begun by Darius the Great in the 5th century B.C. and completed by the Romans in the 3rd century A.D. Transfer to the airport in Ahwaz for a short, late afternoon flight to Shiraz, and transfer upon arrival to our luxurious hotel, where we have dinner this evening. Overnight at the 4-star Zandiyeh Hotel for three nights. (B,L,D)

Friday, May 26: Naqsh-e Rostam | Persepolis | Shiraz: Vakil Bazaar

This morning visit Naqsh-e Rostam, where we find the carved tombs of Achaemenid rulers Darius the Great, Xerxes, Artaxerxes I, and Darius II. After lunch we visit nearby Persepolis, ceremonial capital of the vast Achaemenid Empire. It is perhaps one of the most spectacular surviving archaeological sites in the world, and was designated a UNESCO World Heritage Site. Persepolis comprises about 15 major ceremonial buildings, including the Apadana, Treasury, and "Harem," as well as smaller palaces also embellished with sculpture. Return to Shiraz and end the day at Vakil Bazaar, Shiraz's main bazaar and considered by many to be the finest in Iran. Enjoy dinner at a local restaurant. (B,L,D)

Saturday, May 27: Firuzabad | Qal'eh Dokhtar & Palace of Ardashir | Shiraz: Tomb of Hafez

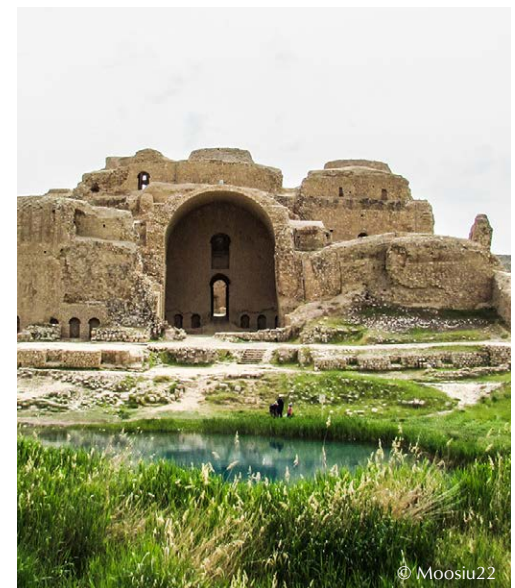

Take a day trip to Firuzabad, formerly known as Gor and Ardashir-Khorra ("Glory of Ardashir"). Firuzabad was the capital of Ardashir I (A.D. 224-241), founder of the Sasanian Empire, and was built in a circular plan more than a mile in diameter and encircled by double walls. A few miles from the old city of Gor is Qal'eh Dokhtar

"It's amazing to me how so many things were incorporated while maintaining good organization and flexibility; our guides were wonderful and provided us with a smooth, varied and interesting journey."

("The Maiden Castle"), a three-story fortress built by Ardashir I in A.D. 209. In A.D. 224, he built the nearby Palace of Ardashir with a design particular to architects of Fars. Enjoy lunch at a local restaurant, and visit the remains of the Sasanian Tangab Bridge. Return to Shiraz and visit the tomb of the celebrated, 14th-century poet Hafez, whose marble tombstone is engraved with a long verse from his works. Dinner is at a local restaurant. (B,L,D)

Sunday, May 28: Return to Persepolis | Pasargadae | Yazd

This morning we drive to Yazd, making a stop at Persepolis for a repeat visit of this magnificent site. Continue on to Pasargadae, a UNESCO World Heritage Site. Cyrus II ("The Great") defeated Astyages the Mede nearby in 550 B.C. and Cyrus is said to have built this first Persian capital on the site of his victory. His white limestone tomb stands apart from the scattered ruins of formal gardens, palaces, and altars on a beautiful plain. Upon arriving in Yazd, those who are up to it may climb a steep, dirt path to the spiritual site of the Towers of Silence, where Zoroastrians once laid out their dead. Dinner is at a local restaurant. Overnight at the 4-star Moshir Garden Hotel for two nights. (B,L,D)

Monday, May 29: Yazd walking tour

The architecture of Yazd is perhaps the most traditionally Persian to be found, preserved by the dry climate and spared the devastations of the Mongols. Wind towers are seen all over Iran but are most highly developed in Yazd. Begin exploring Yazd at the home of the city's former Governor to learn how wind towers work and more about residential Persian architecture in the desert. Take a walking tour through the bazaar, ending at the Water Museum, an excellent introduction to qanats (traditional underground water channels for irrigation, which have been collectively designated a UNESCO World Heritage Site). After lunch in the old quarter, enjoy a walk through covered streets. End the day concentrating on the Zoroastrian religion, which during Sasanian times was the state creed. There are about 400,000 Zoroastrians left in the world, of which about 60,000 live in and around Yazd. Zoroastrians worship fire as a symbol of God, and keep eternal flames burning at their temples. Visit the Ateshkade, where it is said that a sacred flame has been burning since about A.D. 470. Dinner is at a local restaurant this evening. (B,L,D)

Tuesday, May 30: Na'in | Ardestan | Isfahan: Hasht Behesht

This morning we drive to Na'in, an important trade center at the geographical center of Iran that is known for its carpet-making and fine early mosque. After a visit to a private house with some superb, 17th-century stucco carvings, we have lunch at a charming local restaurant. Continue driving to Ardestan, home to a large, 10th-century Seljuk mosque (one of the earliest built on a four-ivan plan), and near to a 16th-century, carved alabaster tomb of a soldier and early Safavid administrator, Amin Oways, who was killed and buried on the battlefield. Drive onward to Isfahan, arriving mid-afternoon, and visit the Hasht Behesht, one of the city's two surviving Safavid pavilions (restored in the 1970s), in the center of the Garden of Nightingales (Bagh-e Bulbul). Check-in to our charming hotel, a converted, double-storied caravanserai of the late Safavid period, where we have dinner tonight. Overnight at the 4-star Abbasi Hotel for three nights. (B,L,D)

Wednesday, May 31: Isfahan: Palace of Forty Columns, Meidan Emam, Bazaar | Farewell dinner

Today we begin exploring Isfahan, perhaps the most splendid of all Iranian cities, at the Palace of Forty Columns, a charming pavilion whose walls are covered with frescoes and paintings. Walk to the nearby, immense, Meidan Emam (“Royal Square”), a UNESCO World Heritage Site. Four jewels of 17th-century architecture adorn each side, symbolizing the political, economic, and religious spheres of Safavid Persia. Enjoy lunch at a local restaurant, and spend some time this afternoon exploring the city’s bazaar. Gather this evening for a farewell dinner at a local restaurant. (B,L,D)

Thursday, June 1: Isfahan: Friday Mosque, Armenian Quarter, Music Museum

This morning visit the complex and magnificent Masjed-e Jame (Friday Mosque), a UNESCO World Heritage Site and truly one of the world’s greatest mosques. Its tiled ivans, vaulted ceilings, and lofty domes demonstrate more than 800 years of Persian religious architecture. View some of the five bridges crossing the Zayendehrud River (which is often dry, due to drought and construction of a dam). Perhaps the most beautiful is the two-story, 17th-century Khaju Bridge that is essentially a bridge superimposed upon a dam and supported by 24 stone arches. Continue on to Isfahan’s Armenian quarter, where there are 14 churches, and take a walking tour through its narrow, twisting alleys and streets. End the day with a private, guided tour of the new Music Museum, which houses more than 300 instruments from around Iran (many unchanged for centuries). We have an early dinner at our hotel this evening. (B,L,D)

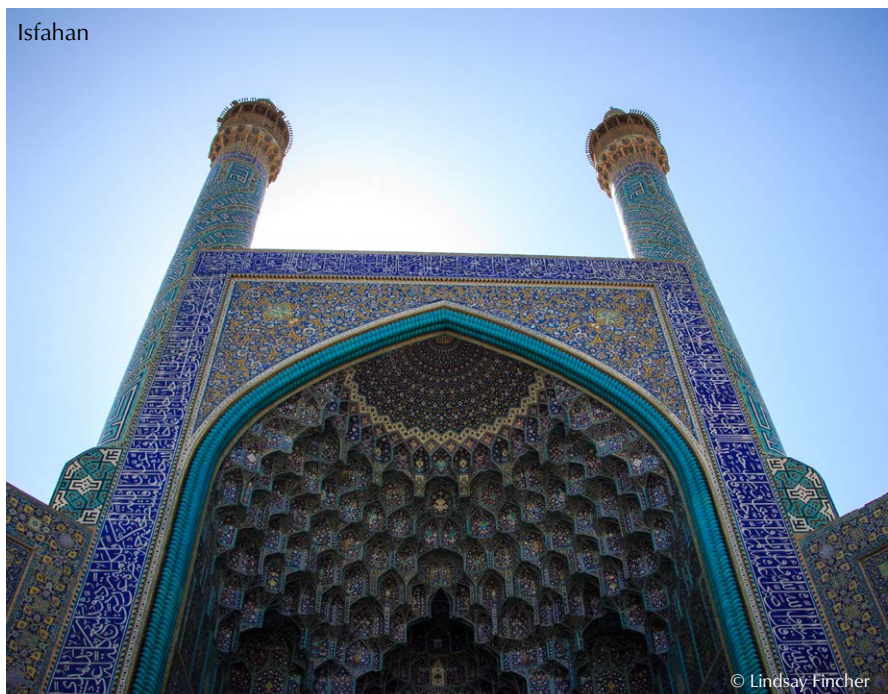

Friday, June 2: Isfahan | Fly home

Transfer very early this morning to Isfahan International Airport (IFN) for our suggested flight (TBD) connecting to your homeward flights.

WHAT TO EXPECT

All participants are expected to be physically active and not be an impediment to others on excursions. This trip is strenuous, and participants should be able to sit comfortably on a bus for extended periods of time, as there are two drives averaging seven hours apiece (with stops along the way). There will be a lot of stairs (some without handrails) and walking on uneven ground, up hills, and on very old paved flooring sometimes with difficult footing. Participants who are not able to walk unassisted for one to two miles a day or stand for extended periods of time are kindly advised not to join this tour. If you have any questions about your ability to participate, we suggest that you visit your personal physician with this brochure in hand, and discuss whether or not the program is appropriate for you. All participants will be required to follow safety/sanitization protocols set forth by Sponsors/Operator, local staff, and host country laws. If the tour manager decides that a participant cannot visit a site safely or in a timely manner, their judgment will be final. Where possible, an alternate activity may be suggested, and additional costs may apply. While our hotel accommodations are as comfortable as possible for the region, our hotels are four- and five-star properties except for the two nights when we stay at rustic, simple hotels. Keep in mind that these hotels are the best available in the region, and have been chosen due to their excellent locations. It is important to keep in mind that some facilities in Iran may not be up to most North American travelers’ standards. Services are improving, however you may encounter problems with plumbing, bureaucratic service, road conditions, availability or quality of public restrooms, etc. Flexibility, a sense of humor, enjoyment of group travel, and a willingness to accept cultural differences and local standards of amenities are essential components to the full appreciation of this trip. Alcohol is illegal in Iran, and it is not possible to legally import, possess, obtain, or drink any kind of alcohol in Iran. Women are always kept at a comfortable, respectable distance, and it is perfectly safe for a woman to walk alone. At the time of year that we visit, average daily temperatures tend to range from the low 60s F to the high 80s F. Complete pre-departure details, including Covid-related protocols, visa instructions, a list of what to bring, and proper attire guidelines will be sent to participants.

Participants must be able to embark or disembark transportation vehicles, stand for extended periods, climb stairs, and step over raised thresholds all without assistance. All participants will be required to follow safety/sanitization protocols set forth by Sponsors/Operator, local staff, and host country laws, and any participant who refuses to follow protocols may be asked to leave the program with no refunds provided. REFUNDS: Prices quoted are based on group participation.
