WHAT TO EXPECT This is a moderately active, busy program with exceptional options for people of various physical abilities. Excursions are optional, and there will frequently be choices among groups going at different paces. Average highs for March will be 65°F, with relatively chilly evenings, and some rainy days a likely possibility. Excursions can involve standing for extended periods, and up to a mile of walking, often on uneven and/or steep terrain, especially at archaeological sites. Elevators may not be available and stairs may not have handrails. Participants should be physically fit, active, in reasonably good health, and able to keep up with the group without assistance from tour staff.

A NOTE ABOUT COSTS Tour costs are based upon current fuel prices, currency values, taxes, tariffs, and a minimum number of participants. While we will do everything possible to maintain the listed prices, they are subject to change. If there are significant changes, details and costs will be advised prior to departure.

TRAVEL INSURANCE Travel insurance for trip cancellation and interruption, medical problems, baggage loss and delay, etc., is highly recommended. Trip cancellation policies that apply to this expedition are included in this brochure. Information about travel insurance will be sent to confirmed participants.

GROUP SIZE This program is limited to 85 participants, including travelers from the Archaeological Institute of America and Yale Alumni Association.
