Archaeology-focused tours for the curious to the connoisseur

"I found the archaeology absolutely fascinating though I'm not an archaeologist. Each site we visited had its own unique character and interest."

- Nancy, New York

Archaeological Institute of America Lecturer & Host

Dr. Val Turner has been Shetland's Regional Archaeologist since the post was created in 1986, and she lives in Shetland on a small croft with her husband. She has Project Managed two major excavation and public access projects on behalf of her employers, Shetland Amenity Trust: Old Scatness Broch saw the 12-year excavation of an Iron Age Broch and Village, which has rewritten the story of Scotland's Iron Age; and Viking Unst saw the excavation of three longhouses and the construction of a replica longhouse and restoration of a replica Viking longship. Val is currently working on a project to conserve Old Scatness sustainably for the future; as well as the nomination for Old Scatness, Jarlshof, and Mousa to become UNESCO World Heritage Sites. She is a member of the Society of Antiquaries of London and of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland. Her publications include a book about archaeology for children, accessible guidebooks and articles, as well as a wide range of academic publications about Shetland archaeology. Val frequently writes an archaeology column for the local paper and presents monthly programs about archaeology and the environment for BBC Radio Shetland. She loves surprising visitors with Shetland's wealth of archaeology, and she has been guiding walks and tours in both Orkney and Shetland over many years, including several previous departures of this very AIA tour since 2015.

This is the perfect opportunity to explore all that Scotland's Northern Isles have to offer: prehistoric stone circles, burial chambers, and settlements; quaint villages; huge seabird colonies; and remarkable plant life—all amidst dramatic landscapes. This will be Scotland seen slowly, with time for in-depth exploration at each site. The Orkney and Shetland islands have an amazing wealth of archaeological sites dating back 5,000 years. Together the islands have more than 18,000 known sites, with new discoveries being made every year. This archaeological saga is worth the telling, and nowhere else can the evidence be seen in more glorious a setting.

Highlights:

- A private virtual tour of the Ness of Brodgar excavations and access to some of the finds. This ceremonial site in the “Heart of Neolithic Orkney” was in use for around 1,000 years and a 20-year excavation project was completed in 2024. The site is within the UNESCO World Heritage Site on Orkney, which also includes the chambered tomb of Maeshowe, estimated to have been constructed around 2700 B.C.; the Stones of Stenness; the 4,000-year-old Ring of Brodgar, one of Europe's finest Neolithic monuments; Skara Brae settlement; and associated funerary monuments and stone settings. These are unquestionably among the most important Neolithic sites in western Europe.
- “The Crucible of Iron Age Shetland”—including Mousa Broch, the best-preserved known broch in the world, Old Scatness, and Jarlshof—where the lack of intensive modern farming means that the preservation of these sites and their landscapes is exceptional.
- The Isles are a birdwatcher's paradise, and one of the major seabird breeding and feeding areas in the North Atlantic. More than a million birds breed in very large colonies.
- All meals are included, and you will enjoy comfortable accommodations: four nights at the elegant Lynnfield Hotel, a comfortable overnight ferry from Orkney to Shetland and from Shetland to Aberdeen, and three nights at the remote and charming Busta House Hotel.

Scotland

This unique tour is more active than our usual land tours and features daily hikes that are easy to moderate in difficulty. To fully enjoy and visit all the sites on this itinerary one should be in good physical condition and, obviously, enjoy walking!

Two local guides and a tour manager will accompany our group of fifteen participants. Our guides will explain in advance the difficulty of each day's walk(s) and, if you prefer, you can opt out of any walking excursion and be driven to the next stop; but, bear in mind that some sites can only be visited if you walk to them. The distance of and height climbed during each walk is estimated within the following itinerary.

ITINERARY

(B)= Breakfast • (L)= Lunch • (D)= Dinner

Monday, July 19, 2027: Depart home

Tuesday, July 20: Aberdeen, SCOTLAND | Ferry to Kirkwall, Orkney

Upon your arrival at Aberdeen International Airport (ABZ) in Scotland, at no later than 2 pm, you will be met and transferred to the ferry terminal in Aberdeen, where our group will board the ferry to Kirkwall, Orkney. We will have dinner aboard the ferry, arrive in Kirkwall at about 11 pm, and transfer to our hotel. Four nights at the 4-star The Lynnfield Hotel. (D)

Wednesday, July 21: Mainland Orkney: Ring of Brodgar, Stones of Stenness, Maeshowe, Ness of Brodgar virtual tour | Kirkwall | Welcome dinner

Distance 2 mi. Height climbed: negligible

For centuries, people have assumed that the Ring of Brodgar and the Standing Stones of Stenness were the main Neolithic focus of this area, but recently completed excavations at the Ness of Brodgar question that interpretation. The stone circles might have been merely on the periphery of the true ceremonial center—a massive ceremonial complex that, in its heyday, must have completely dominated the landscape. Following breakfast, we will visit several important Neolithic sites on mainland Orkney, from the Ring of Brodgar to the Stones of Stenness and Maeshowe, which is Britain's finest chambered cairn. We will also take a private virtual tour of the Ness of Brodgar excavations that ended in 2024. Return to our hotel and gather for a welcome dinner. (B,L,D)

Thursday, July 22: Isle of Rousay | Kirkwall

Distance 2.5 mi. Height climbed: 360 ft.

Today we will take the ferry to the Isle of Rousay, where we will wander the most important archaeological mile in Scotland, through 5,000 years of history, visiting a number of burial cairns including Midhowe, an Iron Age broch, Viking settlements, and remains of the period of the Earls and the troubled crofting times. (B,L,D)

Below: The Ring of Brodgar, a stone circle that is 341 ft. in diameter, is the third largest in the British Isles; above: Skara Brae, a late Neolithic settlement.

Friday, July 23: Isle of Hoy: Dwarfie Stane, Old Man of Hoy | Kirkwall

Distance total 6.75 mi. Heights climbed: 100 & 720 ft.

This morning we will take the ferry to Hoy, the highest and wildest of all Orkney Islands. Our walk will take us to the 5,000-year-old monument known as the Dwarfie Stane, an immense block of sandstone lying within a natural amphitheater. This is the only example in northern Europe of a rock-cut tomb similar to the chamber tombs of the Mediterranean. Drive through a glen, along what could be burial mounds, to Rackwick, from where we will walk to the world-famous sea stack (at 450 ft.) known as The Old Man of Hoy. Return by ferry to Kirkwall, mainland Orkney. Freshen up at our hotel before gathering for dinner this evening. (B,L,D)

Saturday, July 24: Skara Brae | Broch of Borwick | Kirkwall | Ferry to Shetland

Distance 3 mi. Height climbed: 360 ft.

We start the day with a visit to Skara Brae, possibly Orkney’s most exciting archaeological site, which was buried by a sandstorm in about 2450 B.C. It was well preserved and then revealed by another storm in 1850. This, the “Heart of Neolithic Orkney,” which also includes the Ring of Brodgar, the Stones of Stenness, and Maeshowe (sites we visited on July 21st), was inscribed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site in 1999. Walk south along the spectacular coast with geos, natural arches, caves, and sea stacks, visiting en route the Broch of Borwick, perched high on a headland. We will enjoy dinner before we take the overnight ferry from Kirkwall to Lerwick at about 11 pm. (B,L,D)

Sunday, July 25: Lerwick, Shetland | Old Scatness | Isle of Mousa | Brae, North Mainland

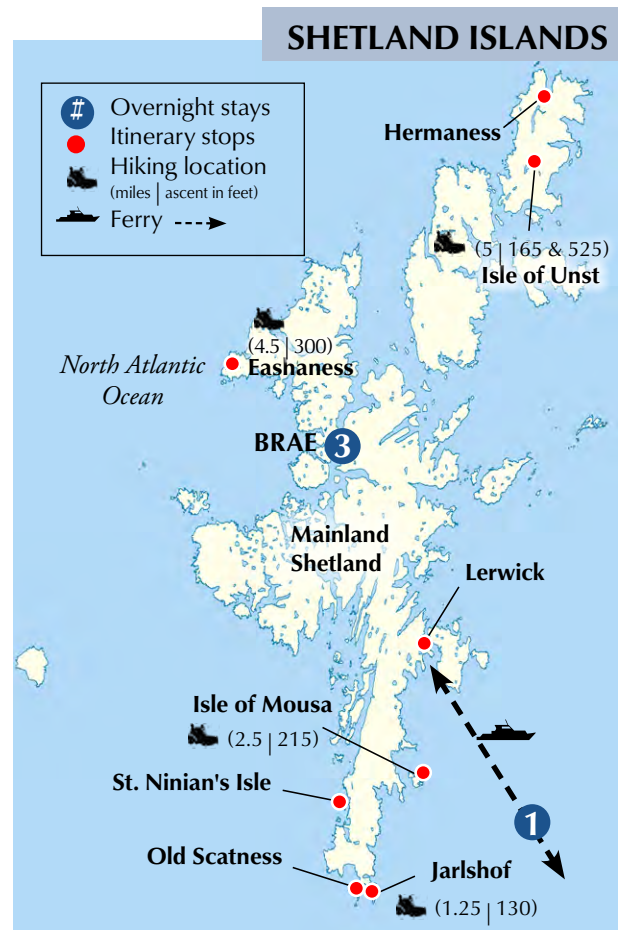

Distance 2.5 mi. Height climbed: 215 ft.

We arrive in Lerwick in the morning, after breakfast on the ferry. Travel south today, visiting Old Scatness Broch and Iron Age village. This is part of the crucible of Iron Age Shetland, also including Mousa Broch and Jarlshof (a site we will visit on July 28th), that was added by UNESCO in 2012 to the Tentative List of cultural World Heritage Sites. In the afternoon we will take the boat to the uninhabited island of Mousa, which is famous for its Iron Age broch—the world’s best-preserved Pictish broch. It rises to 40 feet, and the skill and accuracy of its builders has resulted in a 2,000-year-old construction that appears today as though the builders have just laid the last stone and gone home for the night. Back on mainland we will transfer to our hotel, located near Brae. Three nights at the 3-star Busta House Hotel. (B,L,D)

Monday, July 26: Isle of Unst | Brae

Distance total 5 mi. Heights climbed: 165 & 525 ft.

This morning we will take the ferry to the Isle of Unst, where the excavation of three Viking/Late Norse settlements forms the center of the much larger, multi-faceted Viking Unst project. A replica longhouse has been constructed, adjacent to which the replica longship, the Skidbladner, is a copy of the 9th-century Gokstad that was discovered in Vestfold, Norway. We will also visit Hermaness, the northernmost cliffs of the British Isles, which are home to over 100,000 breeding seabirds. (B,L,D)

Tuesday, July 27: Northmavine: Mavis Grind, Eashaness, Stennes, Tangwick Haa Museum | Brae | Farewell dinner

Distance 4.5 mi. Height climbed: 300 ft.

Today, we explore the dramatic landscapes and archaeological sites of Northmavine, a large peninsula in the far northwest of mainland Shetland. Northmavine means ‘North of the narrow Isthmus,’ and our first stop is at the isthmus of Mavis Grind (“narrow gate” in Old Norse). From the Viking period through to modern times, ships and boats have been hauled across this isthmus between the North Sea and the Atlantic Ocean, avoiding a dangerous passage around the Ramna Stacks. Our main walk today is a linear walk at Eashaness, along a dramatic stretch of cliffs composed of volcanic rock. Eashaness is exposed to the full force of the Atlantic Ocean, eroded into seastacks, holes, and arches. The walk takes us past the Broch and Houlland, Norse Mills, Eashaness Lighthouse, and ends at Stennes. During the 18th and 19th centuries, local lairds invested in deep water fishing, utilizing sixareens—six-person, clinker-built crafts with oars and a sail. During the summer months, 40 to 50 of these sixareens operated from Stennes, venturing 20 to 30 miles out into the open ocean and, at Stennes, we will see remains of old stone fishing cabins and lodges. On our return to Brae, we will stop at some Neolithic chambered cairns and visit Tangwick Haa Museum, which preserves the local history of Northmavine. Back at our hotel, we gather for a farewell dinner. (B,L,D)

Wednesday, July 28: Jarlshof | St. Ninian’s Isle | Lerwick | Ferry to Aberdeen

Distance 1.25 mi. Height climbed: 130 ft.

This morning we will check out of our hotel and travel south for a visit to Jarlshof, an archaeological site that was occupied for more than 4,000 years. There is a remarkable sequence of stone structures: late Neolithic houses, a Bronze Age village, an Iron Age broch and wheelhouses, a Norse longhouse, a medieval farmstead, and a 16th-century laird’s house. Our next stop is St. Ninian’s Isle, which is connected to the mainland by a tombolo (a bar of sand, or shingle). St. Ninian’s was settled in pre-Norse times, and the remains of an old chapel are still visible. We will walk across the tombolo and visit the site of the chapel. Back on mainland we will drive to Lerwick. You will have some free time to explore its shops, and the excellent Shetland Museum & Archives, before we take the overnight ferry to Aberdeen at about 5:30 pm. We will have dinner aboard the ferry. (B,L,D)

Thursday, July 29: Aberdeen | Fly home

Arrive in Aberdeen this morning, and transfer to Aberdeen International Airport (ABZ) for independent flights homeward. Flights should depart Aberdeen no earlier than 11 am. (B)

The Old Man of Hoy stands 450 ft. high in the Orkney Islands.

What to Expect

This is a good introduction to hiking in Scotland for people with an elevated level of fitness, combining hiking and visits to archaeological sites. Most hiking will be on paths, tracks, or quiet roads, although the surfaces can be wet and rough. There will be some steep sections along the way, but no climbs greater than 1,000 feet, even in total. Daily walking distances will not exceed 6.75 miles, with varying amounts of ascent, and we do not expect to hike for longer than four hours at a time. The actual itinerary is subject to variables such as the abilities and interests of the group and the weather conditions. The local guides know the area very well, and an easier alternative hike is possible on most days. All participants will be required to follow safety/sanitization protocols set forth by Sponsors/Operator, local staff, and host country laws. Any participant showing signs of illness will be asked to wear a mask when in close proximity to others. If the tour manager decides that a participant cannot participate in a hike or visit a site safely or in a timely manner, their judgment will be final. Where possible, an alternate activity may be suggested; additional costs may apply. If you have any questions about your ability to participate, we suggest that you visit your personal physician with this brochure in hand and discuss whether or not this program is appropriate for you. Lunches will be packed and eaten (mostly outside) at appropriate points during excursions/hikes. Hotels have been chosen for their excellent locations and generous comfort. Average daytime temperatures at the time of our visit will range from the low 50s to low 60s F, with a fair chance of some precipitation and an average breeze of 14 mph. Complete pre-departure details will be sent to participants.
