

Archaeological Field School

What are we doing?

The field school aims to train students in archaeological excavation and related themes such as:

- Excavation Methods
- Stratigraphy
- Excavation Photos
- Surveying and Mapping
- Geo-Archaeology
- Processing of finds
- Building techniques and preservation

How will the school be organised?

The students are participating in the excavation and can be accommodated directly on site in the „Grabungshaus“. There we can offer rooms with 4 to 8 beds, washing facilities and a kitchen. Practical work will be conducted on the site, finds processing as well as theoretical lectures will take place in the „Grabungshaus“. The academic credits for students will be 6 ECTS.

Application

is possible via the website of the University of Innsbruck:
<https://www.uibk.ac.at/weiterbildung/schools/aguntum/index.html.en>

For further information contact:
fieldschool-aguntum@uibk.ac.at

Where will it take place?

The field school will take place in the Roman town Aguntum near modern Lienz, Austria. The town became a municipium during the reign of emperor Claudius and was inhabited at least until the 5th century AD. Currently we are excavating the Forum Area of the town.

When will we start?

The excavation will last for 6 weeks in July and August 2023. The field school will take place from 17.07.2023 to 05.08.2023 (3 weeks).

How much will it cost?

The costs are 2.400 Euros p. P. for three weeks. These are not including transfer and accommodation. The latter can be organized on site for a reasonable price.

