 (ST. KITTS-NEVIS FEDERATION)
FACULTY-LED PROGRAM

SUMMER 2024

HERITAGE LANDSCAPE PROJECT - ARCHAEOLOGICAL FIELD SCHOOL

This program of field study is best suited for students in historical archaeology, anthropology, geography, bioarchaeology, geoarchaeology, and forensics for students with particularistic interest in colonialism, slavery, industrial history and Caribbean cultures. In addition to the archaeological practicum, students will also be able to visit several historic sites and become immersed in West Indian culture. The work is hard but the rewards are great as student produce new knowledge and help write history.

Highlights

- Visit several hidden historical archaeological sites not open to the public.
- Hike in a rainforest and spot monkeys.
- Participate in archaeological excavations.
- Enjoy West Indian culture.
- Visit the largest fortress in the Caribbean.
- Enjoy a tropical beach.
- And much more!
