Now Recruiting THE BATTLE OF SAN PIETRO

Archaeological Project

SEASON 2 | 18-29 APRIL 2024

A World War II Conflict Archaeology Investigation

Between October 1943 and May 1944, Allied forces attempted to smash a way through two lines of German fortifications, the Winter and Gustav Lines between Naples and Rome.

This battlefield landscape includes the hill town of San Pietro, turned into a fortress by the Germans. Today the ruins of the town stand as a silent memorial to the war.

The project, organised by professional archaeologists, is a fully comprehensive archaeological investigation of the battlefield and surrounding area. Costs will include accommodations, meals, training and materials, and transport from the airport.

Join us. We are recruiting now. Conflict archaeology is open to all.
